Very soon after the discovery of chloroform as an amesthetic, and the wide publication of its wonderful powers, grave fears were entertained of its more or less extensive use by burglars and criminals. Notwithstanding, however, the feeling of alarm, which at the time was shared by many legislators and other leading men in Great Britain, agitated as it was by all sorts of exaggerated propositions, there has been little, if any, experience in the jurisarudence of such cases up to the present ime. Scarcely a dozen of these have one before the courts, and these were littler for burglary or felonious assault, in never yet, as far as we can ascertion, for murder. In no instance has it can proven that chloroform when algred to have been used at all for either functhese crimes, was to any purpose.

DAYS OF REGISTRATION:

June 6, 7, 13 and 14 at all Voting Places.

The registration last week brough out nearly three-fourths of the total vote, but there are many voters amongst the remaining fourth who seem to be almost criminally careless about attending to this very important duty. They are men who take but little interest in polities and are always indifferent about voting. If $61.25. you belong to this class, for once arouse yourself and place yourself in a position to vote for the best intersts of your county. We are to be confronted this year with issues upon which no patriotic citizen should hesitate to take sides. Questions of vital importance are to be voted upon and the good citizen who deliberately disfranchises himself by neglecting a public duty, will prove recreant to the trusts imposed upon the voting citizen, who must not only guard his own interests but in a measure be the custodian of the welfare of the non-voting elements of his community. If you have not registered you have neglected your duty to yourself, your family and to the widows and orphans about you. Officers are to be elected who have to deal with these classes, with the property interests of all the peo-ple and who will be charged with the you fail to vote for good men when sideration of love and affection. such issues are at stake you fail to perform your duty as a citizen. Francis Murphy to drink! Youn-you

It's enough to sidetrack acyclone ordrive Francis Murphy to drink! You—you surely never wrote it, Lobelia?"

"No, Billiger," replied Mrs. McSwat, in a low, pained voice. "I didn't write it, but I sent it to the editor of the Thunderbolt. I—thought it would sound familiar, but I expected it to be a pleasure surelies."

"What do you mean. Lobelia?"
"I found it among some of your old papers, Billiger. You wrote it yourself for a school exhibition about fifteen years ago."

When Mr. McSwat started up-town by way of the back alley a few minutes later his clothes had a curious feeling of being about four sizes too large for him. —Chicago Tribune.

ANCIENT REMEDIES.

Medical Directions to Patients That Were Delightfully Comprehensive.

The old time physician administered heroic remedies, and usually began his treatment of any case by opening a vein in the patient's arm, and bleeding him copiously. Among the directions left by him, none was more imperative than that fever patients should not be allowed cold water, and he seemed to have a perfect genius for compounding nausea perfect genius for compounding nause-ous mixtures. A sketch of "The Hun-dredth Town" incorporated in Massachusetts gives some interesting characteristics and methods of Doctor Ball, who practiced there in the first part of this century. His directions to his patients were delightfully comprehensive.

"Take a little of this 'ere and a little of this entity" he would say "that in a Arthur Ford is now doing the "In and About Kentucky" column in the Courier-Journal and Will Hull has finger, and take it when you are little finger, and take it when you are

One day a patient, having doubtless drunk the full bitterness of such a pre-scription, said to him; "What is the need of so many different things, doctor?" "Well," was the reply, "if you are go-ing to shoot a bird, you use plenty of shot. Some of these things are pretty sure to hit the case."

A young physician, however, who moved into the town in the old doctor's day, found an answer to this illustra-

The following item, clipped from the Ft. Madison (Iowa) Democrat, contains information well worth remembering: "Mr. John Roth, of this city, who met with an accident a few days ago spraining and bruising his leg and arm quite severely, was cured by one 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm." This remeby is without an equal for sprains and bruises and should have a place in every household. For sale by Buckner Leavell.

Some paper, speaking of the tomato crop, says that 72,000,000 cans "were put up this year past" and refers to the old times when the tomato was called the "love apple." and held about as fair a match for "ground cherries" as food for man or beast. Mr. B. R. Sulgrove, the oldest newspaper man in the city, says he remembers seeing, when a boy, in 1835 or thereabouts, several stocks or bushes of "love apples" growing on the north side of Market street, near Delaware, in the garden of John Wilkins or "Archie" Lingenfelter. They were not called "tomatops," and nobody thought of eating them more than "jimson burs." They were not commonly grown, even for garden ornament, and it was a half score of years later before they came into even occasional table use. But he remembers that some of the doctors of that day commended them as a healthful thing to eat, and the new half thing to eat, and the mean into even occasional table use.

HINTS ABOUT CARVING. An Art That Should Be Acquired by Both Ladies and Gentlemen.

To carve well is an accomplishment which should be acquired by both ladies and gentlemen, and as it is not at all difficult to learn housekeepirs are wholely inexcusable for not becoming skillful in the art. The first requisite is a sharp and suitable sized knife; all unnecessary exertions are in bad taste, as they indicate the toughness of the ing. A WONDERFUL WELL it Throws a Fountain of Water a Hundred Peet Into the Air.

The artesian well at Charleville, on the Warrego river, Queensland, is the newest and most remarkable instance of the natural resources of marvelous Australia. The well is situated quite near the railroad station, but in one of the most unlikely places that could have been imagined. Who on earth would have expected that this artesian well, which is the best in the world, of at all events yields the largest amount at all events yields the largest amount of water, was sunk on the top of a hum-mock? Yet so it is. The site was chosen by the hydraulic engineer, J. B. Henderson, for reasons known only to himself, but which have been amply in-stified.

himself, but which have been amply instified.

Crossing the swampy flat leading to this hummock, attention is drawn to a wide channel cut through the drift sand, and it is explained that the outflow of water had done this ere the apparatus for controling it had been obtained. The bore itself looked a harmless enough kind of thing. It might have been taken for a rather high standpipe placed in an idiotic position in the bottom of a hole sixty or seventy yards long, thirty broad and ten feet deep. But a moment's observation showed that the harmless-looking standpipe had made the hole. As a matter of fact, the water when it was tapped rushed up in such volume that it washed away the sand around the bore in a few minutes, and eleahed out the foundations of the derrick and threatened to wreck the whole contrivance. If they had not got a plue in it pretty soon, it tions of the derrick and threatened to wreck the whole contrivance. If they had not got a plug in it pretty soon, it would have washed Charleville into the Warrego. On top of the pipe there has been fixed a right-angle bend, so that the water can be turned in any direc-

it was seen that the water was trickling in a tiny stream from this bend into the thirsty sand below, but in a few minutes thirsty sand below, but in a few minutes the scene was changed. Mr. Woodley of the Queensland Boring Company, which sunk the well, opened the valve, and with every turn of the wheel the thin stream thickened and deflected from its former perpendicular course. Gradually the volume of water increased and began to roar through the pipe almost like steam blowing from a safety valve. Every moment the sight became more interesting, and when the valve was fully opened it was a spectacle to wonder at. Rushing from the bore and by its own force ejecting itself for a dis-

This was the first singular thing noticed, for the falling white torrent driving before it as it seemed, the brown mud, produced a whimsical effect like the pouring of milk and coffiee into the same cup. But this did not last long. In a very few moments a little pond was formed, which filled up until the level of the surrounding ground was reached, and then there was seen at first a rivulet, and then a stream rushing down the hillside. When it is said that this well filled a 400-gallon tank in thirteen seconds it can be readily understood that all this did not take long. The valve was next closed and the right-angle bend removed. On the second opening of the valve there was witnessed a spectacle at once beautiful and majostic, and which was worth the long journey from Brisbane to see. The water rose in a snowy column like a stalagmite of wool to a height of thirty feet, and descended in a hissing torrent so heavy and close as to quite obscure the pipe and close as to quite obscure the pipe. scended in a hissing torrent so heavy and close as to quite obscure the pipe itself. HOCH-OSTERWITZ CASTLE.

A ham may be carved in several ways. First, by cutting long delicate silices through the thick fat in the center down to the bone, or by running the point of the knife in the circle of the middle and cutting thin circular slices.

A tongue should be cut as thin as a wafer. The middle slices are considered the best, and should be cut across, in the castle.

A tongue should be cut as thin as a wafer. The middle slices are considered the best, and should be cut across, and the slices taken from each side with a portion of the fat which is at the root.

Partridges are to be carved like other fowls, but the breast and wings should not be divided. Pigeons should be simply cut in two. A goose or duck must be cut with as many slices as possible from the breast.

A roast pig should be split down the middle, the shoulder separated from the carcas on one side, and then the leg taken off, the ribs divided, and the joints cut at the knee and sliced.—Louisville Courior-Journal.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, of Plainfield, Il., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and seas well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of the Great Discovery at H. B. Interest in our work for its own sake is a cultivatable quality. We all possess it in some degree, and we may all increase it if we will. Children may be accustomed at a very early age to take pleasure in the success of their own efforts, quite apart from any personal good they may derive from it. The careful observer of child-nature will notice that this is a natural delight, and is deadened and diminished only by the growth of selfish considerations. from the memories of those who wftnessed it.

Subsequently a nözzle one inch in diameter, was attached to the pipe, and when the water was turned on it assended in an even jet to a height of nearly one hundred feet, returning to earth in a heavy shower, or dissipating in mist clouds through which the rainbows played with an effect that was as beautiful as it was wonderful. It seemed that the visitors would never tire of looking at it. They simply stood and gazed, hardly saying a word, for in the presence of this marvelous phenomenon speech seemed poor and common-place, and the mind simply gave itself up to childlike wonderment.—Queenslander
